3 Exercises

IMPROVE YOUR PUTTING

There's good reason that the greatest pros to have ever played the game have dedicated countless hours to mastering the art of putting. To the novice golfer, putting may appear to be the easiest task of the sport; it doesn't require the more complex swing that is necessary for driving and the distance is seemingly less difficult to judge than that of a short swing. However, one should not mistake the simplicity of putting for it being an easy or effortless facet of the game. Improving one's putting skills is just as important to their overall games as adding yards to their drive. These three pro-approved exercises are proven to help improve your putting abilities:

1. Putt Through a pair of tees. This simple exercise requires minimal setup and has been known to produce maximum results. For this exercise you simply place a tee in the ground on either end of the putterhead. Then simply practice putting through the two tees, being careful not to tap either. This will ensure that you are practicing the motion of putting on a direct path to the ball will aid in keeping your ball along the path of your intended line.

2. Putt around the hole. Much like basketball players who play "around the world" to perfect their shot from any and all areas of the court, a simple exercise to advance your putting skills is to simply putt around the hole. Choose a starting point about 6 feet away from the hole, putt the ball and continue this act in a clockwise motion around the hole. This exercise will help not only make the act of putting muscle memory but will help with judging distance and power of your putt.

3. Putt One Handed. Practicing putting one handed is probably the simplest technique you can incorporate in your practice to immediately improve your putting skills. The exercise is self-explanatory as you quite simply practice putting the ball only using one hand on the putter. This exercise, popularly used by such greats as Tiger Woods, allows for a better feel for the release of the putter head.

LEARNING TO DRIVE GOING THE DISTANCE

What do every great golfer and even the most inexperienced amateur have in common? Wanting to see an increase in their driving distance. Obviously every golfer would be more than content with adding some extra yards to their swing, but how to do so is the question. The answers may be simpler than you think.

The first way one can add some substantial distance to their swing is by improving their stance. Oftentimes those new to the sport of golf struggle with the distance of their drives as a direct result of a very narrow stance at the start of the swing. A proper stance should leave the outside of your shoulders directly in line with the insides of your feet. This widened stance allows for a strong, full swing of the club increasing the control and power at which the ball is hit.

It is also extremely important to note the height of the ball in order to increase the distance of one's drive. The general rule is that the center of the ball should be directly in line with the top of the club face. This will allow for an easier upward strike on the ball, allowing for more lift on the ball, and therefore an increased distance of the drive overall.

Lastly, and arguably most importantly, in increasing one's driving distance is to ensure centeredness of contact. Centeredness of contact is so vitally important because striking the ball even the slightest bit off center will result in a significant loss in distance. Just one-inch of center can result in upwards of a 12% decrease in driving distance.

Like anything else in life, when it comes to driving the ball down the fairway, practice makes perfect. Through practice a proper stance becomes second nature, an upward swing will be instinctual and centeredness of contact will be almost a guarantee.

CARIBBEAN YACHT CHARTERS

READY TO BOOK YOUR NEXT YACHT CHARTER?

While even the most luxury cruises are on hold until further notice, private charters have skyrocketed during the pandemic.

And with Caribbean countries among the few currently allowing U.S. travelers to visit (with health and safety restrictions in place), yacht charters present an ideal COVID-19 escape.

CHARTERING A YACHT: PEACE OF MIND

Though travel was discouraged in the early months of the pandemic, more recent research has shown that with the right precautions, it can ultimately be safer than dining at a restaurant.

So why not charter a private yacht during these uncertain times? Caribbean islands like Jamaica, the Dominican Republic, and Aruba have begun to reopen their borders, with entry protocols designed to bring peace of mind and ensure safety.

These include:

Arriving with an approved negative COVID-19 PCR test before boarding a flight. (Travelers must also be willing to take additional tests when they arrive at their destination.)

Submitting pre-arrival paperwork and, in many cases, downloading and using contact-tracing apps for the duration of your stay.

Agreeing and adhering to a quarantine period of anywhere from zero to 19 days depending on the country's current infection rate.

By following these rules, you can enjoy a high-end yacht charter around some of the world's most stunning islands. From the striking white sands to the glistening beaches, Caribbean yacht charters offer travelers a safe and stunning getaway alternative.

Rather than staying at a hotel among strangers, or confining yourself to your home, you might escape the stressors of your daily life by opting for a private charter.

OFFICIANTS, COORDINATORS, FRIENDS

Whether you're looking for an Officiant, a Coordinator, or someone to write your Vows or Speeches, we've got you covered!

As certified wedding planners, let us help make your vision a reality, so you can relax and enjoy your day!

As Wedding Officiants we provide ceremonies that are engaging, light-hearted, but at the same time meaningful. They are unique and tailored to the couple and their story.

A PRIVATE INDULGENT CHANGE OF SCENERY

Rather than staying at a hotel among strangers, or confining yourself to your home, you might escape the stressors of your daily life by opting for a private charter.

By booking a private yacht, you can rest assured you'll be surrounded by expert staff who are taking the pandemic very seriously. Whether you choose to sail yourself or commission a skipper, the most popular yacht charters have proven protocols in place to keep everyone safe and healthy.

This is because, even in what we've come to call normal times, health and hygiene play a vital role in the luxury yacht space. And with private charters being integral to the Caribbean tourism industry, you can in fact have a beautiful and private experience sailing on a clean, secluded boat.

In 2021 bookings are right at your fingertips. And currently, yachts are among the safest holiday options around. Interactions with people from outside your household are controlled in a way that simply isn't feasible at resorts or on cruises.

And with the beauty of the Caribbean promising tropical fish and crystal-clear waters, we're confident travelers like you won't leave disappointed.

Of course, these travel opportunities aren't as easy to plan as they were in early 2021—but you don't have to wait to schedule a restful and exotic sailing vacation. There are plenty of charter operators located across the Caribbean who can curate the experience of a lifetime.

Simply consider the level of sailing you're hoping to engage in directly, choose your desired duration, and decide whether you want to move around. (Traveling from country to country, for instance, will require more detailed planning due to COVID-19 restrictions—but visitors also have the option to stay inside a single country's borders.)

And then sit back and relax, because immaculate sunsets, pristine beaches, and ample island-hopping opportunities await. From the comfort and safety of your own private yacht charter, there's no better time than now to soak up the natural beauty of the Caribbean.

Who knows? You may even want to continue booking high-end yacht charters long after the pandemic comes to an end. We certainly wouldn't blame you for the decision.

Patient B. Mr. JM

Structural Chiropractic is not merely concerned w/ a patients' symptoms, but rather takes a more in-depth analysis into the severity of the spinal misalignment causing the persons' subluxations; without structural stability, a person can expect to continue to have ongoing health problems, or what we more commonly refer to as 'symptoms'. If your spine is consistently subluxated with misalignments, this can cause unnecessary biomechanical dysfunction CAUSING symptoms such as chronic pain affecting your shoulders, elbows, wrists, hands, hips, knees, ankles and feet.

Knee

We provide a Successful Rehabilitative Alternative Approach to highly invasive procedures- injections, pills, surgery or even knee replacement. Our goal is to help patients obtain not only foot and leg pain relief, but also improved sensation for better balance and stability. These conclusions are based on 11 studies published in medical journals that document the results in more than 4,000 patients who were actually treated.

Plantar Fasciitis

Our scientifically proven approach to treating Plantar Fasciitis has successfully achieved substantial reductions and/or elimination in the impairment of foot sensation. Published studies also show that patients focusing on their foot problems will likely lead to relief from chronic knee and back pain.

Chiropractic can be expected to be extremely helpful to pregnant moms as they experience the aches and pains of an ever-changing body during pregnancy. The 'Webster Technique' is a specific form of chiropractic designed specifically to help pregnant moms.

Did you know that at least 80% of your Immune System is Located in your gut?! That's why your gut is actually referred to as your, "Second Brain!" So, doesn't it make sense that a Heal-thy Gut = A More Heal-thy YOU!? (Where there is a lack of Healing, there is a lack of Heal-th!) When the body is Self-Maintaining, Self-Regulating and Self-Healing, only then can it be considered Truly Heal-thy!! Isn't it amazing that one side effect of a heal-thy metabolism is that the body Sheds Un-natural, and Un-wanted Excessive Body Fat?!!

Dr. Todd

As a doctor and father who has a passion for understanding and sharing the answers to REAL Heal-th, my primary goal is to maintain a 'Vitalistic' approach to Heal-th Care; To make and act upon 'Low Invasive Heal-th Care Decisions' that are in the Patients' Best Interests of Optimizing their Total Heal-th in order to allow the Law of Homeostasis (LOH) to restore, optimize and maintain a living being's ability to naturally and effectively "Control the Healing Factors" affecting their mental, structural and physiological functions, while creating as little to no damage to the individual as possible. *Avoid Unnecessary Side Effects from Drugs, Injections, Surgeries and Radiation!!

A piano that is in tune is music to everyone's ear

Paul Predoehl
Piano Technician

I have been tuning since 2002 as well as doing repairs, regulation, and restringing. I apprenticed with my father until 2009. He emphasized the importance of knowing how to tune by ear. Thanks to him, I have been able to achieve plenty of progress and can confidently provide concert quality tunings. Being a piano technician can be challenging and rewarding at the same time. The piano's current condition, maintenance record, and environment that it's in can almost predetermine the future of a piano's tuning and condition.

INTRODUCING

Xavier Perez

THE 10-YEAR-OLD GOLF PRODIGY

Could golf's next superstar be an elementary school student? Xavier "Xeve" Perez—born in 2010—has already racked up 300 wins and drawn comparisons to his favorite golfer: the globally-renowned Tiger Woods.

“There’s no one else,” he recently told The Today Show, gesturing toward his Tiger Woods attire. Even his shoes paid homage to the icon. If you aren’t familiar with Perez, you will be soon. He aspires to win the Masters by 16, and has been making the rounds in the media for his recent winning streak

He's always wanting to get better. And as long as he has that drive, the sky's the limit.

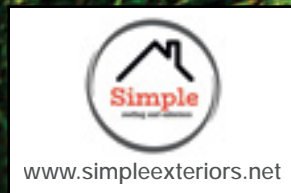

GOLFING AGAINST THE ODDS

Perez is driven to go above and beyond in his sport of choice. Ask him where his ambition comes from, and the prodigy—and his parents, for that matter—might point to the uncertainty of his early days.

The truth is that things didn't always come easily to Perez, who was born prematurely in Honolulu, Hawaii. Despite his early birth, his health improved immensely. Perez picked up his first club at just 10 months old, and the rest was proverbial history.

Born to a Pacific Islander/Philippine mother named Christine, and an African American/Puerto Rican father Miguel, both of Perez's parents offered their unending support. The results certainly show it, as the prodigy is already planning a remarkable future in golf.

Today the young golfer and his family live in Evans, Georgia, just 12 miles from the celebrated Augusta National Golf Club—home of the Masters tournament.

COACHED BY THE GREATS

Perez's desire to thrive in golf comes from a genuine love of the sport, paired with a desire to overcome obstacles and improve his craft.

"He's never satisfied with anything," Chip Deason, former pro golfer and Perez's coach and mentor, told the Tuscaloosa News. "He's always wanting to get better. And as long as he has that drive, the sky's the limit."

There's no denying Perez has the drive. Deason claims the young prodigy's golf IQ is off the charts. He has to remind himself that his mentee is only 10, and that he's still very much a kid.

"He can hit every shot," Deason disclosed. "Even if he misses the green, he knows what to do. His short game is really good. His chipping, the bunked game—all that is good. I've said it a thousand times: he's just like a little tour player."

In this same vein, Perez has only positive things to say about his coach (who, it's worth noting, is head golf professional at Belle Meade Country Club in Thomson, Georgia). "He's very hands-off on my swing," said the 10-year-old record-holder. "He doesn't try to change it."

Deason and Perez share a mutual admiration that's paramount to a longstanding golf career. The young player appreciates that his coach will correct him simply by letting him play the game he so loves.

"I have a lot of goals," Perez added. "One is to meet Tiger Woods. And one of my goals is to beat Chip [Deason]."

While Perez claims he's come close to beating Deason, that day has yet to come. Afford him some time, though, and he may well knock his own coach's game out of the water.

A GOLF CHAMPION IN THE MAKING

Perez brings a sense of balance to his golf career, enjoying his childhood while practicing with the consistency needed to sustain continued growth. You can find him on the green nearly every day, barring Christmas and his birthday.

What's next for the young golfer? Perez hopes to continue to play in college, attending either Stanford University (Woods's alma mater) or the University of Alabama, where Deason played to great acclaim.

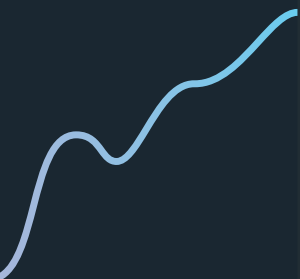

Regardless of what the future holds, there's no denying Perez has a bright life and career ahead. "It's surreal to me, not only the golfer, but the good son and good gentleman that [Xeve] has grown up to be," stated the prodigy's father.

Perez's mother is no less proud. "It doesn't come from us," she said of her son's integrity. "I think it comes from himself."

“It’s surreal to me, not only the golfer, but the good son and good gentleman that [Xeve] has grown up to be,

The Fairways "HOLE IN ONE" 2021 STOCK PICKS

1. Automation (AN):

Automation has reported an Average positive surprise of 168.8% over the past two quarters and holds an earnings ESP of +1.91%. Over the past year they have proven to be a reliable stock to buy into.

2. Lordstown Motors Corp (RIDE):

Stock Prices shot up from $9.50 to a peak of $31.50 over the course of the year and has continued to sit comfortably sitting well above $20 a share for the last month of 2020.

3. Lemonade (LMND):

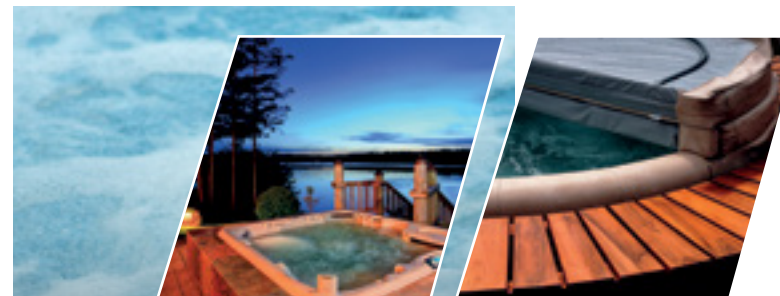

Stock Prices have risen steadily over the last 52 week period, from $44.11 to a whopping high of $188.30. This insurance company, that reached over a million customers in just four short years, has the potential to be a stock market goliath in just a couple years time.

4. Air BnB (ABNB):

AirBnB took a major hit in 2020 due to the pandemic, as so many other companies had. Expect a huge climb in the stock market in 2021 as travel demands bounce back.

5. Zoom (ZM):

The surge in popularity of zoom as a direct result of the pandemic is widely known, and it reflects in their successful stock market climb. Buying zoom during a period in which the stock price dips could prove to be profitable both in the short term or the long term.

Will Festivals Actually Return in 2021?

Let's talk entertainment for a minute.

Specifically, let's discuss the festival dates that have been rescheduled for 2021—which, after a whirlwind of a year, has finally arrived.

While festivals like Coachella, Stagecoach, and Outside Lands have booked dates after a year-long hiatus due to the pandemic, we have to ask: will these events actually take place in 2021?

We've turned a corner in the COVID-19 pandemic. There hasn't been much, if anything, in the way of in-person festivals since March 2020—but the global situation looks brighter.

In United States specifically, the Pfizer and Moderna COVID-19 vaccines are in the early distribution stages. As of January 11, approximately 9 million people had received their first doses in the U.S., with nearly 25.5 million total coronavirus vaccine doses distributed.

Though the distribution plan isn't foolproof, and COVID-19 cases continue to rise, this reveals a proverbial light at the end of the tunnel.

To this end, the live events world—to which festivals are integral—has taken notice. Bonnaroo and Lockn' have already penciled in dates for Q3 2021, and events like Outside Lands and Riot Fest are all set to kick off in the late summer and early fall. Outside North America, festivals like Leeds and Reading in the United Kingdom, Sweden's Lollapalooza Stockholm, and Splendour in the Grass in Australia recently announced dates and lineups for Q3. A handful of events are on the books more conservatively for Q4 2021 as well.

And then, there are more optimistic event planners and promoters planning dates early in the year. U.S. festivals scheduled for Q2 2021 include Coachella, Stagecoach, Summer Camp, and EDC Las Vegas, among others. Ultra Miami—held in a state that's been relative lax in terms of restrictions—is slated to return the last week of March in South Florida.

Hope for the Best—Plan for the Worst

These rescheduled dates have appeased many festivalgoers.

And while ticketholders can plan to attend these events for the time being, the truth is that there's no telling whether these festivals will actually take place this year. The live events industry is still on shaky ground, and until the COVID-19 vaccine is fully distributed, we won't have a clear answer in terms of what's next.

Yet, all signs point to live events returning in some shape or form in 2021.

At the very least, Q3 and Q4 festivals will likely take place with additional safety precautions in place. As for festivals scheduled for the beginning of the year, only time will tell how they play out.

Music Festivals Aren't Going Anywhere

No doubt livestreams and in-home sessions have given us a compelling window into our favorite artists' lives. However, though virtual festivals have seamlessly adapted in response to the pandemic, few things compare to experiencing live music in person.

Again, while there's no telling when live music will return in 2021, it'll almost certainly experience a comeback in the near future. The past 10 months have given public health officials and organizers ample time to adapt, implementing mask all signs point to live events returning in some shape or form in 2021.

requirements and social-distancing measures to ensure a safer experience.

Since most music festivals take place outdoors, we're fairly confident they'll be first on the list of mass gatherings and live entertainment to safely return. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has stated time and again that outdoor events present less of a risk in terms of coronavirus transmission.

Of course, things won't be entirely back to normal in 2021—and our very idea of normal has very much been turned on its head—but the arts are here to stay. By 2022, concertgoers will almost definitely be able to fill their calendars with the festivals they know and love.

ON A RECENT SURVEY, 80 PERCENT OF GOLFERS ADMITTED CHEATING. THE OTHER 20 PERCENT LIED.

GOLF, THE BALANCE & YOU

THE DOWNSWING & FOLLOWTHROUGH

It's important to concentrate on the back of the ball through the downswing and after contact.

Many times, the golfer is interested in seeing the results of his shot and will pick his head up early in the process so he can see where the ball has gone. Picking up your head will almost certainly result in a loss of rhythm to the swing and a loss of balance. Trying to put too much power behind the swing will also result in balance being impacted. You should allow the natural rhythm of your weight shift to direct the speed of your swing, not the speed of your arms.

THE BACKSWING

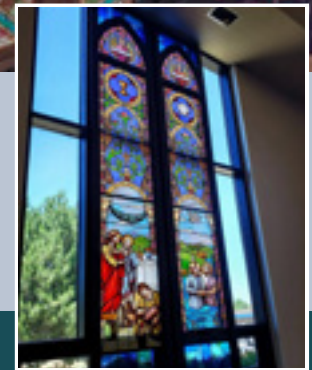

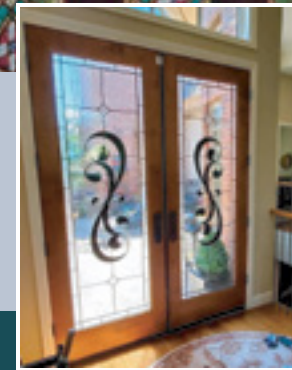

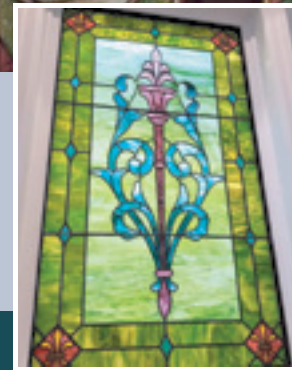

The golfer begins the swing while turning his hips back and to the right. When the hips are the engine of the swing, the golfer should not have a problem remaining balanced. However, if the golfer decides to speed up the swing and lead with the hands or arms, he may try to affect a weight shift by swaying backwards with the hips. That could result in a loss of balance.

THE STANCE

The golfer must be balanced at address. In order to feel confident in your stance, your feet should be shoulder length apart and your knees should be slightly flexed. This is an athletic position and it will allow you to begin your swing while feeling confident and strong.

THE CURRENCY OF THE FUTURE?

CRYPTO:

Cryptocurrencies appealed to the “average Joe” because of their decentralized nature. Meaning cryptocurrencies, unlike other currencies, are not controlled or monitored by any government agencies.

It is difficult to hold a conversation with anyone even remotely interested in stocks, investing or even current events without the topic of cryptocurrency being brought up. Names such as Bitcoin, Ethereum, and Dogecoin dominate the novice investor’s conversations, but what exactly are these mysterious cryptocurrencies?

Cryptocurrencies are digital assets that are based upon a network spread across many computers, In simpler words, cryptocurrencies are a form of digital currency that can be used for the purchase and sale of goods online. Every cryptocurrency has some sort of “token” or “coin” which can be purchased, to either be kept or traded for a monetary value.

Cryptocurrencies are digital assets that are based upon a network spread across many computers, In simpler words, cryptocurrencies are a form of digital currency that can be used for the purchase and sale of goods online. Every cryptocurrency has some sort of “token” or “coin” which can be purchased, to either be kept or traded for a monetary value.

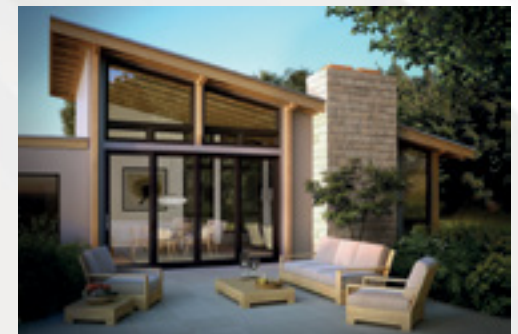

So why have these cryptocurrencies become so abundantly popular in recent years? This question has several different answers, the first being that a large majority of these cryptocurrencies are considered to be untraceable, appealing to those involved in dark web activity. However, cryptocurrencies have become immensely popular from the everyday man, not just those who were seeking an untraceable form of currency.

With Cryptocurrencies growing increasingly more popular it is hard to imagine the future will not incorporate cryptocurrency use into our daily lives. It seems almost every day there is some new crypto to invest in or some up and coming cryptocurrency slated to be the next bitcoin. It would appear that crypto is here to stay, for the foreseeable future.
